Selected Discussions
Roundtable Discussion Pedro Mejia President of Clinton Estates pdmejia@outlook.com	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Technology in the civic associations • Reasons to go online Member of civic is younger, folks prefer to watch from home, let people watch on their own schedules and it allows seniors citizens to choose based on comfort. However, the negatives are delays, people don't feel as close, and not as many people show up in person. • Online membership collection is very convenient and you can use cheddarup.com for an easy way for this • Using Facebook groups can be very helpful and allow residents to add to their community • You can easily update your Facebook page with meeting minutes, neighborhood newsletter. • You can post question forms so people can ask questions to their community liasons. • Creating a website • Make sure that your newsletter is online and print for your neighborhood. You can use QR codes to allow members to use easy links. • Use your community members strengths to make your presence better. Is there someone who knows how to build a website or a photographer that you could use to help your community?
